

> Small Farm Insurance Target Market Determination (TMD)

About this document

This Target Market Determination (TMD) applies to Rural Affinity's Small Farm Insurance product. This TMD is intended to provide consumers (both existing and potential), their brokers and any distributors with information to assist in deciding whether the Rural Affinity Small Farm Insurance product is appropriate for the objectives, financial situation and needs of the consumer.

This document is not intended to provide financial advice regarding coverage, nor does it form a part of the terms of cover. In addition to key eligibility criteria outlined in this document, the product is also subject to underwriting criteria.

Consumers must refer to the Product Disclosure Statement (PDS) and any supplementary document(s), which outline the relevant terms, conditions, exclusions and insurance cover being provided under the product, when making a decision about this product.

1. Issuer

Great Lakes Insurance SE, trading as Great Lakes Australia ABN 18 964 580 576, AFS License No. 318608.

2. Date from which this Target Market Determination is effective

This Target Market Determination is effective from 5 October 2023.

This TMD will apply to policies purchased or renewed on or after 5 October 2023. For historical versions of this document, please contact the Issuer or Rural Affinity or refer to the Rural Affinity website www.ruralaffinity.com.au.

3. Class of consumers comprising the target market for Small Farm Pack Insurance

Rural Affinity's Small Farm Insurance product is designed for small farm owners seeking to manage financial exposure arising from loss of, or damage to farming and domestic assets as well as liability to third parties.

3.1 Key eligibility criteria

Generally, Rural Affinity's Small Farm Pack product is not suitable for:

- farm owners with annual turnover from farming activities exceeding $100,000; or
- farm owners seeking cover for contracting or non-farming activities; or
- farm owners seeking cover for loss of profits, personal accident, machinery breakdown or pleasurecraft; or
- farm assets that are not maintained to a reasonable standard or condition; or
- those looking to insure against third party claims or liabilities arising from products sold, supplied or distributed within the United States of America or Dominion of Canada or any jurisdiction or the laws of those countries.

In deciding whether or not to offer cover under Rural Affinity's Small Farm product, Rural Affinity will also consider various underwriting criteria including loss history and the location and general age and condition of assets for which cover is sought.

3.2 Needs and objectives

The Small Farm Insurance product can be tailored to suit individual(s) need. Consumers are able to select from the policy sections noted below relevant to their needs and to specify the assets they do and don't want to insure, based on the value of the assets they are insuring, options for excess, and certain optional covers.

- the application of excesses in the event of some claims;
- the application of sub-limits to the sum insured for some aspects of cover; and
- the application of exclusions in respect of certain events or elements.

3.4 Financial situation

This product is suitable for a person who is able to pay the premium applicable and is able to fund any applicable excesses or limitations in sums insured having regard to their personal circumstances and vulnerability and hardship considerations.

3.5 Consistency with the target market

The Issuer has determined that this insurance product including its key attributes is likely to be consistent with the likely objectives, financial situation and needs of the class of consumers in the target market, as the Issuer considers that it provides the required type of insurance cover for that class of consumer.

This has been determined based on an assessment of the insurance product, including its key attributes.

Consumers should review the PDS carefully and consult with their broker in considering whether the product is suitable to their individual needs, and to understand what is covered and excluded from the insurance policy.

4. How this product can be distributed and distribution conditions

The Issuer has determined that the distribution conditions noted below will make it likely that consumers who acquire the product are within the target market set out above.

Rural Affinity's Small Farm product is distributed solely through brokers appointed by consumers to act on their behalf. Brokers act either under their own current Australian Financial Services Licence (AFSL) or as an Authorised Representative of an AFSL holder.

All brokers advising consumers regarding the Rural Affinity Small Farm product are familiar with this Target Market Determination. Training is also made available to brokers to assist in understanding the benefits and limitations of the Rural Affinity Small Farm product.
